Comment on strengths and weaknesses of the course	Super easy. That can be either its greatest strength or its greatest weakness. However you think.
Give suggestions on how the course or how the instruction could be improved.	Please do not change this course at all. It was wonderful. I got what I needed to know, I feel like I have some grasp of economics now, and I probably spent in total less time than the scheduled class time on the course overall. Perfect for engineers who have harder classes to deal with

Comment on strengths and weaknesses of the instructor	She is a fantastic lecturer and I loved the way she set up classes. She's very open to questions and I feel like I am leaving this course with a much greater understanding of the material. Effective learning without being stressful- a very hard thing to achieve but she did it!
Comment on strengths and weaknesses of the course	The course itself is fine, but I would say most of the benefit I got from it was due to Ms. Chen's style of teaching and the way she presented the material to us.
Give suggestions on how the course or how the instruction could be improved.	I honestly have no ways to improve this course, I hope it does not change.

Comment on strengths and weaknesses of the instructor	She is a very good teacher she is very effective in giving information. She is short and straight to the point and doesn't give us any down/wasted time.
Comment on strengths and weaknesses of the course	only sometimes there wasn't enough time to write down the longer definitions for things in the lecture
Give suggestions on how the course or how the instruction could be improved.	This was the first time I've really liked the topic of a class I've taken and I hope I do well in the next classes. I had a very good time taking this class.

Comment on strengths and weaknesses of the course	The quizzes were sort of helpful for the course, but were also one of the only opportunities outside of the class to study from

Comment on strengths and weaknesses of the instructor	Ms. Chen was a very great instructor. She was very keen on offering to help students outside of class if they needed it, as well as offering to answer questions in class whenever students had them. Her explanations for course concepts always made sense, and the examples she worked out were very helpful. I thought the assignments and tests she administered were fair as well. Overall, a wonderful instructor with, in my opinion, no weaknesses.
Comment on strengths and weaknesses of the course	The only issue I had with the course homework assignments is that I only had one attempt to complete them. I wish the assignments could've been a little bit more interactive somehow, so that if I made a mistake, I could be given the opportunity to fix it. Otherwise, I thought all course content, assignments, and exam materials were fair, and I was satisfied with what I learned through this course.
Give suggestions on how the course or how the instruction could be improved.	I know this sounds weird, but maybe adding like 1 or 2 homework assignments might help the course. I feel that I could have used a little bit of extra practice when it came to some of the course material. Also, these extra assignments could help make the homework average more representative of each student's actual work ethic and knowledge of the subject (a bad homework fluke wouldn't cut so deep). This is my only suggestion for improvement of the course.
